Not A Hard-Surface Road Between Its 2 Greatest Cities

WEALTH IS UNTOLD Billion Dollars of Engineering Would Only Begin To Solve Problems

Brazil's mighty and continuingly successful struggle for industrial progress against elemental handicaps of towering mountains and trackless jungles is described in the following dispatch. It is the fourth in a series of seven articles written by International News Correspondent Lee Van Atta after a 15,000 mile aerial tour of Latin America.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—If one could locate a single phrase which would describe the path of this nation's progress, that phrase would be "dynamite, blast and fill."

For raw, untouched and immeasurably wealthy Brazil is an engineering paradise. It matters little where you start, because there is so much to be done.

The best example is that between this country's two greatest cities, Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, there is a railroad but not a hard-surface road. The cities themselves are highly modern in every respect but once out of them, once into the outback where most of the national wealth lies, you are a hundred years back into history.

A hundred years, that is, except for the miracle of the modern airplane, which somehow keeps a line of communications open over the unbelievably rugged ranges and the brutally resilient, omnipresent jungles of Brazil.

It is not overstatement to say that a billion dollars of concentrated engineering expenditure would only begin to solve a small fraction of Brazil's tremendous road and rail problems. Yet without that expenditure, progress will be at a snail's pace.

Lack of those roads and rails has been the single important deterrent to Brazil's stepping into the forefront of world economic powers. For example, geologists believe that there is oil under better than 75 per cent of the soil of this country. Yet, because of the inaccessibility of perhaps 80 per cent of the land

Arrange for Burial of Mrs. M. Harvey Longshore

NEWTOWN, Dec. 8.—Funeral will be conducted here tomorrow for Mrs. Anna V. Longshore, wife of M. Harvey Longshore, who died on Tuesday.

Mrs. Longshore, who lived near this borough, is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Charles C. Johnson, Newtown, and Mrs. Joseph A. Zurich, Newportville Heights; a son, E. Harold Longshore, Morrisville; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Bowman, Fallington, and Mrs. Howard Church, Langhorne; three brothers, Augustus S. Leedom, Dolington, Elmer B. Leedom, Newtown, and William Leedom, Ivyland; and four grandchildren.

The deceased was a member of Dolington W. C. T. U., and Makefield Mothers' Club.

Service will be held at the funeral parlors of Stacy B. Brown, Inc., 323 E. Washington avenue, here, at two o'clock tomorrow. Interment will be made in Newtown Cemetery, and friends may call this evening.

WORDS AND PLOWSHARES

It is interesting to note that Russians are hearing a slightly different version of the way atomic energy is being used in the Soviet Union than that Vishinsky recently stated in the UN. The Russian foreign minister told the delegates at Lake Success that "right now we are razing mountains; we are irrigating deserts; we are spreading life, prosperity, happiness."

Pravda says he said "We want to put atomic energy to blowing up mountains, changing the course of rivers, etc."

Meanwhile a joint announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department tells the world that advanced types of atomic weapons will be proof-fired soon in strictest secrecy at Eniwetok Atoll. Just a day earlier the AEC told of its current and projected plans for construction of reactors to make possible better applied research on problems of turning nuclear fission to peacetime uses.

As usual, no one can make head or tail of the inconsistencies of Russian thinking and action. However, the case of the United States announcements, it becomes clear that this country has been working both sides of the street in nuclear fission.

The projected explosion of atomic weapons in mid-Pacific serves notice that Uncle Sam has further shaped and tempered this weapon. At the same time the fact is affixed that the sword may also in time become a plowshare. The rather lengthy public discussion of the hopeful prospects of using atomic energy to supply a basic human need — power — should serve notice that it is not tossed on the table as a propaganda card.

It should help to bring the force of world opinion to the side of the U. S. as this country continues to work for a peaceful solution to the future of a divided world that must live with the atomic bomb whether it likes it or not.

Piano industry is being revived again, it is reported. Just so it isn't saxophones.

Princess Margaret of England wants to come over for a visit, presumably C. O. D.

Many boys are studying home economics in the schools, perhaps because they were crowded out of the mechanical classes by the girls.

Moscow claims it is now the fashion center of the universe. The West, however, continues not to like Moscow's style.

Kansas man killed himself after shooting at a neighbor and missing. Couldn't stand the humiliation of such poor marksmanship, evidently.

In aiming his gun at John L. Lewis, President Truman will continue to exercise the utmost caution not to hit Phil Murray.

Evidently it was one of the claps who never miss a radio commercial who referred to his last girl as having "that built-in goodness," previously attributed only to breakfast cereals.

mass, Brazil imports all but one per cent of her annual national fuel requirements.

It is an incongruous situation. One of the newest of the national industries, the raising of beef cattle, is wholly dependent upon the airplane for survival. From the fertile plains of the matto grosso a fleet of twenty transports operates an around-the-clock schedule to bring fresh beef into Rio de Janeiro for local consumption and for shipment to the markets of the world.

There is, it is true, some river transport. The mighty Amazon carries the produce and the rubber of the vast Amazon Basin to the Atlantic. Some shipment is done down the Rio Parana from the matto grosso. But the Rio Parana spills into the sea at Buenos Aires, and Brazil is not exactly cheering such close contact with the Argentine.

The importation of aggressive foreign capital, such as that which the U. S. might invest, is only now beginning to be strongly encouraged. Even at that, some finance groups dare not invest in the country too heavily, due to national laws which menace, even as they encourage, an investment from abroad.

One of these laws is particularly different. If an American steel company for example, were to start probing for iron ore and manganese in a specific region, it would be warmly encouraged.

But, should that same company expend a million dollars in the process, and then strike gold instead of ore, the gold belongs to the Brazilian government.

The same law would hold true if a company started for gold and ended up with iron ore or with platinum or with diamonds.

And always, that investing group would be faced with problems of transportation and communications, insurmountable barriers. Some idea of just how complex these problems are was given me by a group of American officers, recently returned to Rio from an inspection tour through Territorio de Acre, in the far northwest corner of Brazil.

Realizing there would be limited supplies at the lonely jungle strip where they planned a refueling stop, the Brazilian Air Force sent word to a base in the region to carry additional gas into the strip and to alert the village. That was two months before the party left Rio.

When they arrived, the gas had appeared also. But the mayor apologized abjectly for the lack of apparent civil reception warmth.

The gasoline and the message had arrived the day before. But came by human pack. There was no other way over the mountains or through the jungles.

Thus it is that Brazil thinks often of the slogan "dynamite, blast and fill." It's well realized here that until the mountains are toppled and the jungle penetrated by roads and railways, Brazil's progress will be necessarily slow.

In the transition period, the airplane is being called upon to serve as an oxcart, a railroad, a truck. There is now air consciousness in the country, in fact, the government is fostering the foundation of private flying clubs to step up the country's list of accredited and licensed flyers.

In Rio, it is considered fashionable to donate airplanes to the clubs instead of making a donation to charity. It is felt that this is an even more direct contribution to the eventual role Brazil will play in world affairs. But always the country realizes that dynamiting, blasting and filling is its only sure and ultimate solution.

CUSTOMERS' CORNER

The anti-trust lawyers who want to put A&P out of business don't like our low price policy. They say we use it to drive competitors out of business. Actually, as every customer knows, our low price policy is designed to do just one thing: Give you more good food for your money. Here are the facts about our low price policy:

1. We keep our profits at a minimum. They averaged less than 1 1/2 cents on each dollar of sales during the past five years.
2. We have for years had a strict policy against below-cost selling.
3. We do not have any "week-end specials," but feature low prices the whole week long.
4. We charge the lowest practical prices everywhere we operate.

That is why we say, regardless of where you live, you will save money week in and week out by doing all your shopping at A&P.

Mary M. Bentley, Media, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Donald E. Delacey, at New Hope, by Constable Miles Delaney, on a charge of disregarding parking signs on Mechanic street, New Hope.
The woman, it is alleged, failed to appear for a ticket hearing when notified and failed to receive or accept a summons by registered letter.

As a result, the matter was placed in the hands of the State Police of the Belmont barracks, who served the summons. She paid a fine of $3 and costs of $3.86.

Charles W. Skillman, Lambertville, N. J., was given a hearing before Justice Delacey for driving past a through traffic sign in New Hope. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5 and $3.50 in costs. The charge was brought by the State Police of the Doylestown barracks.

With about 300 persons in attendance, the meeting of Solebury Farmers' Club was held in Trinity Hall, Solebury, Saturday, when the fourth and fifth grade pupils of the New Hope-Solebury schools presented a program which was much enjoyed.

Owing to the fact that the greater part of the evening was taken up with the program, the only business of the club was an election, results of which were as follows: president, Maurice Ely; vice president, Dr. Carl Breuker; secretary, Miss Anne Chestnut; treasurer, Frank Durach.

CARS DAMAGED

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 8.—A crash at the intersection of E. Court and Broad streets on Tuesday resulted in considerable damage to two automobiles, but occupants escaped injury. The one car was operated by Mrs. Thelma M. Hart, Swamp road, and the other, owned by Mrs. Emma P. Stover, was being operated by R. E. Harrar, who was returning the

Four Persons Hurt In Yardley Crash

YARDLEY, Dec. 8.—Four persons were hurt, one seriously, when two cars collided head-on on S. Delaware ave. near Letchworth, here, yesterday. The accident was attributed to the season's first snowfall.

The injured were taken to Mercer Hospital in the Morrisville Union Fire Co. ambulance. They are: Mrs. Mary Dwelly, 51, of Ferry road, here, who suffered cuts of the head and fractured ribs; her maid, Mrs. Mabel Nichols, 49, of Philadelphia, minor cuts and bruises; Thomas W. Reynolds, 27, of Monroeville, N. J., treated for minor injuries; and William DeCamp, 38, of Marlton, N. J., head injuries.

According to Police Chief Robert

Waterson, the accident occurred when Reynolds, who was accompanied by DeCamp, lost control of his car on the slippery pavement and crashed into Mrs. Dwelly's auto, which burst into flames. The injured were treated at the scene by D. Richard Horwell, of Yardley. Members of the Yardley Fire Co. were summoned to extinguish the blaze.

RECIPES

Apple Dumplings

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup table cream
¼ cup milk
3 medium-sized cooking apples
½ cup granulated sugar for apples
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon allspice
1½ cups apricot whole fruit nectar
½ cup granulated sugar

2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Work in shortening and mix in cream and milk. Roll dough thin on floured board and cut into four 5-inch squares.
Pare, core and quarter apples. Place apple quarter in center of dough squares; sprinkle with mixture of sugar, orange rind and spice. Bring corners of dough up over filling and pinch edges together to seal.
Combine nectar and ½ cup sugar in a baking pan (about 8x8x2 inches). Heat to boiling. Place dumplings smooth side down in nectar sauce, and top each dumpling with butter. Bake uncovered in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve hot.
Serves 4.

School System In Need of Revamping

favor the joint school board formation, Robinson said.

"The cardinal principle governing all studies and deliberations pointing to reorganization should be the welfare of the children," Haas said. Some officials are of the opinion, however, that high caliber education is not the prime mover for more efficient and larger administrative units. Financial advantages of reorganization, the saving of money through the pool of resources, too often decides the issue.

Robinson pointed out while savings are a by-product of reorganization, they should not become the main objective.

Officials offered the progress of the joint board of directors of the Upper Adams School District in Adams County as a model for joint school board effort. It includes the boroughs of Arendtsville, Bendersville, and Biglersville and the townships of Butler, Menallen and Tyrone.

The Upper Adams Joint Board stresses "first our children, then our money." Each district, the board said, gets more and better education for their money.

Each district showed a saving of funds during the 1947-48 school year and the joint saving totaled a net of $13,784.

School districts throughout the state anticipate increased school rolls in the 1950's resulting from the wartime baby boom. Many, like the Upper Adams district, are finding their solution to the flood of new entries in joint action.

"With the continued support of the community we have every reason to hope that our school buildings and equipment will some day reach the same high standards that our courses and curriculum have already attained," the joint school board declared.

Pennsylvania is reported well up in the ranks of the more progressive states in reorganization, according to the council of state governments.

"States are stepping up their efforts to reorganize local school administrative units to help meet modern-day educational needs," the council said.

Sellersville Councilmen Refuse Pay For Duties

SELLERSVILLE, Dec. 8 — Although they are entitled by law to receive pay for attending meetings, members of Sellersville borough council on Monday evening decided not to accept any remuneration. It was pointed out that councils in several boroughs throughout the county receive pay, but local members wish to perform their civic duties free of charge.

The police department turned over to council $65 collected as the result of traffic violations the past month. Chief of Police Matthew P. Yetter announced he had issued 32 tickets for violations.

The water level at the catch basin, it was announced, is 73 inches below the overflow. Council heard a report concerning the well which was drilled on West Park avenue during the summer. This well has been supplying water at the rate of 80 gallons a minute. The pump at the well has been installed, and an official test scheduled, and if it proves satisfactory, more equipment will be installed.

Borough secretary Charles R. Witmer gave an account of the two-day session at State College, where representatives of boroughs, townships and third class cities met to consider the matter of finances.

an invalid, testified she showed the defendant several rooms until she reached the room he was attempting to "corner her." "He asked me to see into a closet in one room, then held my arms and threw me down on a cot," said the octogenarian.

Under cross-examination, the defendant admitted that he has been in trouble with a 70-year-old woman prior to his Falls township crime, and with a 16-year-old girl in Trenton, N. J., since the Falls township arrest.

State policeman John C. Friedrich, of the Langhorne sub-station, testified the victim, who stayed off the complete attack by screaming for her ill husband, managed to obtain the license number of the defendant's car, which had New Jersey tags on it.

"I got your license number, Jersey," the victim called to the defendant, who shouted back, "You are wrong; I'm from Penna."

The defendant, who is unemployed now, is married for the second time and the father of a daughter whom he is supporting but who lives with his first wife.

Dr. Robert Bennett, New Jersey State Hospital psychiatrist, who testified the defendant has been receiving treatment since July 30 for alcoholism, said he is a "pathological drinker with a psychoneurosis."

"I don't think there is any occasion to lecture you," commented Judge Biester, prior to sentencing the defendant. "It is one of the most unusual cases I have ever heard in this court, and there is one factor the Court cannot overlook, and that is the protection of the public."

Judge Biester ordered the defendant removed to the county prison until he can be removed to a mental hospital to undergo further psychiatric tests. The defendant pleaded guilty to assault and battery with intent to ravish and assault and battery.

FLAKORN CORN MUFFIN MIX

NO MEASURING, SIFTING, BLENDING

Ready quickly. 12 crisp, tender corn muffins by just adding an egg and milk to Flakorn, and baking. Perfect result every time because ingredients are perfectly mixed. Also makes delicious pancakes, waffles.

Cheese Ring Pumpkin Pie

A circle of shredded cheese makes this mellow pumpkin pie especially festive for holiday desserts.

Among the desserts you'll serve for Yuletide charm is a spice-flecked pumpkin pie in a prettily fluted pastry shell. Many guests also welcome it after a heavy meal because it is less rich than many other holiday desserts.

You'll notice the pumpkin pie is baked briefly at a high temperature and then finished at a moderate one. The high heat quickly bakes the crust and helps to keep it flaky, while the custard-like pumpkin filling needs to cook at lower temperatures to keep it tender.

When baked in glass pie plates, pumpkin pie can be brought to the table right in the dish to serve as an interesting centerpiece. Surround it with Christmas holly.

Edge the pie with shredded yellow cheese just before serving. Whipped cream sweetened with honey is another topping most people like on pumpkin pie.

1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add water. Mix into a dry, crumbly dough. Press together, cover, and let stand 10 minutes. Roll out about one-eighth inch thick on lightly floured pastry cloth. Line one nine-inch pie pan. Fill with pumpkin filling.

Pumpkin Filling

1 cup cooked pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup shredded yellow cheese
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 to 2/3 tablespoons cold water
Mix together pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, mace, cloves and ginger. Beat eggs and add milk. Add to pumpkin mixture and pour into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) five minutes, then in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Just before serving, edge pie with shredded cheese. Makes one nine-inch pie.

Hollywood Beauty Parade

By Max Factor, Jr.

(Famous make-up advisor to the screen stars now writing for INS) HOLLYWOOD. (INS) — Most women apply cleansing cream as a regular grooming routine at the time of retiring, but not so many appreciate the merits of a quick application of this same beauty aid during the day if they happen to be engaged in dusty and grimy housework.

Recommendation of daytime cleansing cream treatments is, of course, premised on the assumption that you won't be made-up during strenuous housecleaning hours. If, then, you are not faced with the necessity of removing and replacing make-up you can easily keep grime from becoming imbedded in your pores by quickly rubbing on and rubbing off a light application of cleansing cream as occasion allows. Or, if you are working alone, and don't anticipate the arrival of callers, you can apply this cream before starting a dusty task, and leave until such work has been completed.

Don't forget that cleansing cream can work as effectively for the hands and arms as it can the face. And don't overlook the merits of hand lotion for protecting hand and arm beauty, either.

The technique for a thorough cleansing cream operation, one intended to completely remove even the slightest trace of make-up at the end of the day, calls for a small quantity of the cream to be briskly patted over the entire face, including the ears, with an upward motion. Never rub this or any other cream in with any vigorous scrubbing action. After the cream has been patted in for some minutes, its surplus should be blotted off with make-up tissue or a dry towel. After the cream has been thoroughly blotted off, apply skin freshener or astringent to remove even the most minute trace of cream which may remain adhering to the skin.

Women who use cleansing cream faithfully and regularly at the end of the day to remove their make-up never get around to enjoying the luxury offered by this beauty aid when used for "facials," such as one would get in a beauty parlor. Briefly, such a "facial" calls for this procedure: Pat small quantities of the cleansing cream on the face, after which hot towels, wrung dry, are applied as often as you have time and inclination for, left on until they cool, and their application can be made more luxurious by dashing just a trace of cologne or other scent on them before application.

When the hot towel treatment has been finished, blot the face free of cleansing cream, apply skin freshener or astringent and then tauten the face muscles with a cold towel or ice pack application. Finally, blot the face perfectly dry.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THE development of air-freight methods, making it possible for residents throughout the country to enjoy the goodness of fresh seafood, has brought about major changes in the menus of millions. For that reason, the A & P Service for Home-makers suggests that this recipe for baked lobster pie be given a place of honor in your collection of seafood dishes.

The basic ingredient for this dish, naturally, is a lobster, preferably one weighing from one and one-half to three pounds. Also necessary are six tablespoons of butter, three tablespoons of oil, salt and pepper, two tablespoons of brandy, three-fourths of a cup of sherry, three-fourths of a cup of heavy cream, scalded, one-half cup of fish stock, and two egg yolks.

First split the lobster and remove the coral and liver. Remove the meat and cut into suitable pieces, then pound the coral and liver with three tablespoons of butter and set aside. Heat the rest of the butter with oil in a skillet, season the lobster pieces with salt and pepper and saute in the oil. When the lobster is cooked, drain off the fat.

Then pour in the brandy and wine and turn the flame slightly higher. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the liquid is reduced about one third. Add the scalded cream and fish stock to the lobster, following with the egg yolks, one at a time and stirring after each one has been added. Next add the coral mixed with butter and heat thoroughly, being careful not to allow the sauce to boil after the egg yolks have been added. Finally, pour the mixture in a casserole and cover with a short pie crust in which six teaspoons of Arrowroot have been substituted for a like amount of flour. Bake in a hot (425°F) oven for about 30 minutes, or until browned. This will provide six ample portions when combined with vegetables of choice and a tossed green salad.

Prescription medicine, unlike good wine, seldom improves with age. A bottle of medicine that has been standing on a medicine shelf for a long period of time, may undergo chemical changes that might cause it to lose its potency—or the changes may have made it even more potent... and possibly harmful. "Handle With Care" should be the slogan when dealing with old medicine. Senior Girl Scouts Attend Conference to be a Girl Scout Leader; Professional Scouting — a Career and International Camping where Miss Irene Knox of College Park, Maryland showed slides taken at the Swedish Camp last summer.

Colorful table decorations made by Eastern scouts depicted scenes from various countries. Hand made pottery dishes, decorated with scenes from various countries, were given to each delegate as favors.

The luncheon speaker was Miss Martha Prendergast, Executive Director of the Philadelphia Girl Scouts. She told of her experiences the past two summers when she accompanied representatives from the United States to an International at the Girl Scout Chalet in Switzerland. She also showed slides of her trip.

The afternoon closed with a Tea Dance in the Hotel Ball Room. Most of the group said the Christmas Lights ceremony which was taking place just as the conference closed. Representatives at the conference came from troops in Doylestown, Langhorne, Perkasie — Sellersville and Warrington. The program cover was designed by Mary Kroat of Warrington Troop No. 43.

Former Postmaster Doyle Is Honored at A Banquet

LANGHORNE, Dec. 8 — Former Pennel Postmaster Charles S. Doyle was the guest of honor last evening at a banquet arranged by the Postmasters' Association of Bucks County, and held in the American Legion Country Club, here.

Mr. Doyle, who resides in Pennel, had served as postmaster there for 15 years, retiring last July 30th. He was presented last evening with a pen and pencil set by members of the association; and with a pen, the gift of the clerks in the Pennel post-office, Mrs. Harold Dusenbury, of Hulmeville, and Mrs. Samuel Hastings, Pennel.

Serving as toastmaster was Joseph Zalot, postmaster at Langhorne, and president of the county association. Mr. Doyle was one of the founders of the county association.

Action to Quiet Title

The Bristol Trust Company, Executor of the estate of Louis H. Willits, deceased, vs. William P. Tunison and Harmon P. Tunison, their heirs, executors, administrators or assigns.

To: William A. Tunison and Harmon P. Tunison, their representatives, heirs and assigns, and all other persons claiming or having any interest or claim in the Real Estate hereinafter described.

You are hereby notified that on the Fifth day of December, 1949, The Bristol Trust Company, Executor of the estate of Louis H. Willits, deceased, filed a Complaint in the above-mentioned Court for the validation of its title to ALL THAT house and certain piece or parcel of land, situate in the Borough of Bristol, County of Bucks and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the southwest corner of Race Street and extending of that width southwestwardly between parallel lines at right angles to Race Street eighty-eight feet five inches more or less, land now or late of Joseph S. Pierce, bounded on the northwest by land now or late of Ann Cox and on the southeast by land now or late of the heirs of Charles G. Johnson and wife, being known as No. 634 Race Street, Bristol, Pennsylvania.

All that certain message and lot of land, situate in the Borough of Bristol, County of Bucks and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the westerly side of Race Street one hundred and sixty feet north of Plum Street at a corner of William P. Tunison's land; thence westerly along said land at right angles to Race Street passing through the middle of the partition between the house on this land and that on the adjoining lot eighty-eight feet five inches more or less to land now or late of Joseph S. Pierce; thence along said land parallel with Race Street eighty-eight feet five inches more or less to Race Street; thence along said street southeasterly twenty feet to the place of beginning, being known as No. 363 Race Street, Bristol, Pennsylvania.

Said Complaint sets forth that the decedent acquired title to the above described premises by virtue of a Deed from Joseph D. Baker, et al., County Commissioners of Bucks County, dated April 16, 1942, and recorded in the office for the Recording of Deeds, in and for the County of Bucks at Doylestown, in Deed Book No. 721, page 117; the said County Commissioners had acquired title to said lots by virtue of various tax sales; and prayed that said Court enter a Decree adjudicating the title of the decedent in the above described premises and Decree that said title shall be valid and indefeasible as against the claims of the above Defendants, their representatives, heirs and assigns, and against all other persons generally having any interest or claim in the said real estate.

You are hereby notified to appear and answer the aforesaid Complaint within twenty (20) days from the insertion of this notice or be subject to an Order or Decree to be made against you as prayed for with the prayer of said Complaint.

This week, in a circular sent to you through the mail, you read my announcement stating that Santa's Toyland would no longer be operated after this Christmas season. I also announced that in order to sell out everything in Toyland, GIANT Reductions would be made on the merchandise.

However, so that there be no misunderstanding, I tell you this: I do not want my customers to have the impression that everything has been reduced in price. Even at the expense of not selling out our complete toy and wheel goods stock, either in short supply or fast movers, will NOT be reduced in price!

SPORT NOTES

Joe Andreotti, Washington street youngster, played a wonderful game last Saturday as Northeast Catholic beat Simon Gratz in Philadelphia. The Bristol youth, who graduated from St. Ann's Parochial School, netted 82 yards in ten attempts at carrying the ball.

Reports are circulated that Andreotti has been offered a football scholarship at Georgia Tech or the University of Alabama.

"Bill" Marion, sensational St. Ann's back, who missed the championship game with Dittman, was heart-broken when he had to sit on the bench and be a spectator. Marion has been granted a scholarship at West Chester State Teachers College. He is a graduate of Trenton High and is 22 years of age.

Many high school and college coaches would like to have the record of "Pete" Borne, coach of the St. Ann's gridders. In three years of coaching with St. Ann's and Burlington, Borne's teams have won 32 games, lost two, and tied two. Quite a record for a youngster who never went to college but was one of the best backfield men that dominated a Bristol High uniform.

St. Ann's has now won everything championship possible in this section. For several years it captured the Bristol Suburban Baseball League crown. It won the Lower Bucks County football championship in 1948, the Bristol Basketball League diadem last season. This year, the team went into the Trenton Industrial Baseball League and with a mediocre pitching staff, "Spike" Scordia won the regular season championship. Last week, the football eleven won the Northeast Football championship after copping the regular season crown.

Reading Central Catholic High, which plays Bristol tomorrow night, opened its season with two straight wins. Reading Catholic is coached by "Joel" Schaaf. Several years ago, Penn's best scorer was a fellow named Joe Schaaf. We will check and see if it is the same person.

A resident of Andalusia, Ed Taws, won the Therman Britt trophy last week in the Huntingdon Valley Country Club shoot at Abington. Taws shot a 48 score, firing at 50 single, 16-yard targets.

Coach Jerry Bloom, of the Bristol High basketball team, will try a new type of defense as his team stacks up against Reading Catholic. As explained, the defense will be a "gamble" and if successful, Bristol, will get possession of the sphere quite often.

Scouters Pay Honor To Samuel Russell

Scoutmaster David Dean, Jr., and his assistant, George Webster, of Feasterville Troop 78, furnished entertainment in the form of two authentic Indian Dances. Speaker of the evening was Lloyd Bucher, chairman of organization and extension of the Delaware Valley District. Mr. Bucher spoke on the relation of the parent to the boy in the Scouting Program, and the importance of Volunteer Leadership, which is the Scouting program. The 17th Annual Explorer Ball of the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America was held at the Lower Makefield high school on Saturday evening. Explorers, Scouters and their ladies of the Council were greeted by Explorers of the Lower Makefield Post No. 10, the host unit for the ball.

During the intermission Council President F. P. Kemmerer and Commodore of Sea Exploring of the Bucks County Council, extended greetings. Neighborhood Commissioner, Harper Stockham, presented the three year training program Scouters award to Harry Hoffman, Jr., advisor of the host unit.

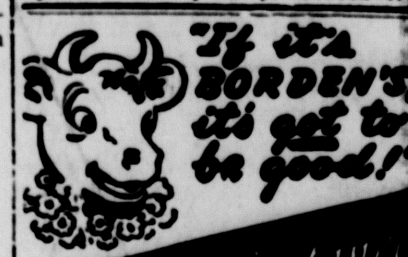

Recognized at this time were the following awards which were attained during the year 1949 in Explorer Scouting: Woodsman Rank—Robert Pfeffer, Robert Koenig, of Post 1, Sellersville; Joseph McClister, Hank Carter, John Noble, Jr., Charles Metz, James Celson, Terhune Dickel, Robert Peirce, Douglas Eklings, and Philip Faden, of Post No. 10, L. Makefield; John Gilbert, Alan Paetzell and Robert Gordon, of Post No. 51, Milford; and William Hart, of Post 69, Croydon. Frontiersman Rank—John Hager, Carroll Gantz, John Lutz, and Ed Nye, of Post 1, Sellersville; Robert Peirce, Charles Metz, Philip Faden, Douglas Eklings, James Celson, and

RECIPES

Fresh Broiled Salmon
2 pounds salmon fillets or steaks
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or other fat, melted
Juice half a lemon
Minced parsley
Cut fish in serving-size portions. Sprinkle both sides with salt and pepper. Place fish on pre-heated greased broiler pan, about 2 inches from heat. Brush with melted fat. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Broil steaks 3 to 5 minutes on each side.

Fillets need not be turned, but broiled 8 to 10 minutes, or until flakes easily when tested with fork. Sprinkle with parsley. Serves 6.

OVER 25,000 DESIGNS FOR CHRISTMAS CARDS

1949 Cards Display More Variety Than Santa's Pack

MORE CARDS USED

The 1949 Christmas cards display more variety than the contents of Santa's pack.

To express your "Merry Christmas" wishes, more than 25,000 designs are available this year—the greatest number ever. Publishers estimate that 1,600,000,000 Christmas cards will be posted throughout the nation—an average of 49 cards per family.

Holiday greetings have increased five-fold in popularity since World War I. Less than 300,000,000 Yule cards were sent in 1919. Fifty firms published about 5,000 designs that year.

But so conservative was public taste that 80 per cent of all 1919 cards pictured traditional floral arrangements, stagecoaches, candles and bells. Today those four account for less than 30 per cent of the nation's Yule greetings.

Holy Land scenes have come to the fore in the 1949 Christmas cards, surpassing even winter landscapes and holly-and-poinsettia designs in popularity. Madonna and Child portraits, in soft pastel hues, are a favorite subject.

Among novelty cards this year are Christmas greetings stamped on sheet aluminum and cards with plastic mountings, guaranteed against getting dog-eared in the Yule mail rush. Many of the cards have trick pop-up folds, and a host of tiny Santas and angels quiver on tiny watchsprings.

Verses are generally brief, often with a touch of holiday humor. A trio of playful kittens bears a flower across one greeting.

Sending you this red POINSETTIA. To letcha know I don't forgetcha! By contrast, '919 cards were limited almost exclusively to a brief "Merry Christmas" wish. In size and stylized design, most resembled glorified calling cards. Some weren't much larger than the postage stamps that carried them.

Today's deluxe Christmas cards, luxurious with ribbons and rhinestones on giant perfumed satin puffs, with tiny sleighbells attached for sound effects, often stand 10 or 12 inches tall. Among 1949 novelty greetings are several that unfold to desk-top size.

Many favorite 1949 Christmas symbols are missing from earlier Yule cards. Santa, who now reigns the Christmas card realm, in 1919 managed to sleighride onto only a handful of cards for children. There were no pine cone or lighted Christmas tree designs then. And—almost unbelievably—no cellophane snow on the winter scenes!

Christmas card art has become subtler and more attractive during the past 30 years, keeping pace with improvements in printing processes.

Gravure printing and full-color lithography have supplemented traditional engraving methods, making possible faithful reproduction of famous paintings by both modern artists and the Old Masters.

The most striking development in Christmas card history, however, has been the booming popularity of "special title" cards. They began in the early 1920's, when publishers experimented with a few sentimental "Merry Christmas" missives to Mother. This year nearly half of all Christmas cards designs are addressed specifically to special friends and loved ones. They include titles to your neighbors, minister, and employer, as well as all the relatives. There's even a Christmas card to your family dentist, hoping that the only "plate" needing attention on Christmas Day is one heaped with turkey!

BLACK BASS HOTEL HAS A NEW OWNER
Historic Inn Was Built 35 Years Before American Revolution
INTERESTING HISTORY
LUMBERVILLE, Dec. 8.—A historic inn, the "Black Bass Hotel," built 35 years prior to the American Revolution, has been sold. The inn is located on the banks of the Delaware River here.
The well known inn, which was erected about 1714, has been purchased by Herbert E. Ward, together with Joseph McGonick, former Comptroller of the city of New York City, and Lawrence H. Bemis, who has operated the Howard Johnson restaurants and the White Turkey restaurants in New York City.
This fine old stone hostelry was partially destroyed by fire in 1837, but was rebuilt at once to take care of the thriving trade of the Delaware Barge Canal which lies where the original road once brought stages, horsemen, hunters and traders to the famous hotel.
There are many tales surrounding the hotel including hangings of troublesome bargemen and stories of well-known bandits such as the famous Dean outlaws frequenting the inn.
The hotel was sold in 1939 by Reuben C. Stever, who operated the place for 35 years, and before that for six years, by his father. The inn for many years was noted for its famous shad dinners.

RECIPES
Pumpkin Raisin Pie
2 large eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups canned pumpkin
1 1/2 cups rich milk
Pastry
1/2 cup seedless raisins
Beat the eggs in a mixing bowl.

LOCUST BATTLE
MEXICO CITY — (INS)—Mexico will take part in the campaign to eliminate the locust from Central America. According to the Ministry of Agriculture, there aren't any locusts in Mexico, but Ministry officials will go to Managua to coordinate plans for the battle against the pest in Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

A Christmas Play Is Often Exhausting to Teacher, Child

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SOME PTA's exploit children and teachers. The program leaders of such PTA's, and the school principal may suppose they should have a big program just before Christmas. The school children, the PTA leader is thinking of the huge crowd such a program will attract, the school principal is thinking of the opportunity of showing the parents what the school can do at putting on an entertainment.

Immediately one or several teachers known for their talents at training children to perform in public and willing to do the extra work are thought of. Even if these teachers dread the undertaking they can't say "No." They may feel personally or officially obligated to the principal.

Type of Program
Already for this year the type of program may have been planned, and the children who will make the best showing selected, together with the teacher to train each group. I have purposely used the word train since, as a rule, attention of the school and expectations of the parents are on the perfection of the training of the children (almost as if they were seals). There's not much consideration given to the over-all education values to be derived. (My bulletin, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper). It must be a good show. The principal feels keenly that the reputation of his school is at stake. The teacher feels she will be measured by how well the children perform.

Rarely will any whole room of children be selected for the program.

Certain children of a one room or several rooms will be chosen. For the children selected the training is sometimes truly of value. They may gain skills in music and dramatization and good experience from group activities. They even may gain some fine creative experience in helping make the costumes and other equipment. A few of them even may derive some good from frequent arduous rehearsals driving toward perfection.

Regular Hours
Either the children will have their preparation and practice during the regular school hours or after school. If after school, it means extra time for many children (and their parents) and certainly for the teacher. Besides, she may have to devote hours and hours after school on costumes and the like. If the school time is used (and it should be) the teacher may feel worried about some other things she must neglect. And what of the children not selected for the program? Won't they feel neglected? Won't they be neglected?

Let's consider the teacher. Before the final program has ended she is worn to a frazzle. What price glory? Most of the PTA mamas and papas will like the program and say, "We must have another like it every year."

If the purpose of the PTA is to stimulate a musical or dramatic group, especially in the upper grades and high school, and if all the participants are getting all their practice at regular class periods, a program giving a sample of regular school achievement can be superb. But the average public performance by young children at a PTA is a cruel exploitation of these children and the teacher.

SIGHT IS PRECIOUS; BE SURE TO GUARD IT

Glaucoma Is Caused By Internal Pressure On The Eye-Ball

IS VERY INSIDIOUS

(The following article on glaucoma has been prepared by the Prevention Department of the Bucks County Branch, Pennsylvania Association for the Blind.)

Of the physical qualities that have been given us, the one we most value is vision. It seems odd that we take relatively little trouble to guard properly that most precious gift, like all other precious things that must be guarded or it may be lost. The approximate value of an eye can be estimated by multiplying the average income for one year by forty years.

Glaucoma is the name given to the disease in which there is increased internal pressure of the eye with the associated symptoms and consequently hardening of the eyeball. Although one eye may be affected long before the other, both eyes eventually become involved. Glaucoma is one of the most frequent causes of blindness yet this cause is guarded against inadequately. The worst and most fearful aspect of glaucoma is the manner in which it appears. Slowly and very gradually, almost imperceptibly, the eyeball hardens until it finally becomes as stony as marble. The hardness creeps into the eyeball stealthily so that the victim is not aware of what is happening until the disease has advanced to such an extent that it has caused a great darkening of sight, or in later stages total blindness.

There are two forms of glaucoma:

one acute and painful type often comes without warning or after the original warning signs have been neglected. The vision becomes hazy, misty dull and dark, colors are obscured, and vision is similar to that of a dense fog. Halos and colored rings form around light sources and finally vision is diminished sufficiently so that it is difficult to distinguish even these. The pain is a severe dull ache radiating to the temples and head. One or both eyes may be affected and the trouble may seem to be of a bilious nature or due to a stomach or gall bladder disorder.

The second form of the disease is insidious often at work for a long time during which time the victim is unaware of a gradual loss of vision. In these cases there are no other symptoms to indicate the approach of the disease. Only the ophthalmologist through his routine examination searching for glaucoma will discover this symptom before the increased internal pressure has existed long enough to cause permanent damage.

Patients, unguided and unhelped or treated by persons not trained in the detection or recognition and modern treatment of glaucoma, are inevitably destined for blindness. (Glaucoma causes 12% of all blindness) With early recognition pro-

KEEP CHILD IN MIND
WHEN CHOOSING TOYS*Toys Can Contribute Much To Education of The Youngster*TOYS ARE TOT'S TOOLS

By Frances Vannoy

Home Economics Extension Rep.
Toys received at Christmas can contribute to a child's enjoyment and delight and can help him to learn to live happily now and in the future. That is why it is very important to choose toys wisely, keeping in mind the child who will be using them.

Play is serious business to the child. His toys are his tools; his playroom and yard are his laboratory. He experiments, tests, and acquires skills as he plays with his toys. Through play a child learns about his place in the family, the neighborhood, and the world. In play he overcomes his fears by building courage; he plays out hate and love; he works through his expressions and confusions.

Practically the same toys are appealing to both boys and girls two to five years of age. They need creative materials, such as easel and finger paints, clay, geometrically sized blocks, crayons, and papers. Because muscles that make small movements of fingers possible do not develop until the child is older, the two to five-year-old child will show less tension and strain if his toys call for action using only large movements made with the large muscles.

Toys that can be taken apart and put together again are suggested for young children. The pieces should be large and geared to the child's abilities for dismantling and reassembling.

Children are able to tell the difference between colors before they can name them. Small children, 15 to 30 months of age, will be especially interested in color-matching toys.

Four and five year olds, both boys and girls, are interested in imitative play. They want small brooms, mops, and dishes so they can do the things they see their mothers do.

They will want dolls and play-house furniture; they will thrill with tricycles, wheelbarrows, and wagons which one day may be fire engines and another day something else that suits their fancy.

Smaller toys, like trains and miniature animal and human figures, fit in well with block play. Children use in their imaginative play, acting out the things they see so that they understand them better.

NEW RELIEF!
For Stuffiness,
Coughs of Colds

You know—like millions of others—how wonderfully effective Vicks VapoRub is when you rub it on.

Now...here's amazing, special relief when there's much coughing or stuffiness, that "choked-up" feeling. It's VapoRub in Steam...and it brings relief almost instantly!

Put 1 or 2 spoonfuls of VapoRub in a vaporizer or bowl of boiling water. Then—breathe in the soothing, medicated vapors. Every breath eases coughing spasms, makes breathing easier. And to prolong relief—rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back.

Use it in steam...Rub it on, too!
